Know Your Neighbors

Banker, bootblack, or bush-wacker, stenographer, seamstress or salesman? You rub elbows with them at the lunch counter, you meet them in the street every day, but what do you know about them — their jobs, hobbies and inside stories on life. These are the people you will get to know better, through listening to their interviews over CFAC in Calgary Tuesdays at 8.44. Last week a cleaning lady from one of the big down-town office buildings told how she managed a family of eight on a total income of $17.00 a week and remains perfectly happy at her work. "Know Your Neighbor" is the title of this interesting quarter hour.

All the letters of the English alphabet are contained in this sentence.

The Cardinals cleared thirty-five dollars which will be used to buy the necessary hockey equipment. The boys wish to thank everyone who assisted in any way to make the dance a success.

Push Sale Of Canadian Wheat

Western Canadian farmer organizations are on the right track in taking steps to launch a well defined co-ordinated program of publicity with the promotion of greater consumption of high grade wheat in consumer countries as its objective.

Within a period of a couple of weeks two of the large farmer marketing organizations have given their blessing to such a move. They are the central organization of the Canadian wheat pools, whose plan to place an all-Canadian wheat loaf before the British consumer was endorsed at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool delegates and the United Grain Growers Ltd., who, at their annual meeting in Winnipeg sponsored a publicity program for Canadian wheat overseas.

Briefly, the U.G.G. Ltd. propose to interest boards of trade and other organizations throughout the prairie provinces to sponsor a request to the Federal government to set up a special sales promotion body to be known as the Canadian Wheat Institute with offices in consumer countries, the objective being to develop greater consumption of high quality wheat, which, of course, means wheat grown in Canadian fields.

The necessity for stimulating overseas consumer interest is cited in the following quotation from the directors' report at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool: "In spite of the fact that Great Britain remains the best Canadian overseas customer for Canadian wheat, our wheat is invariably used only for blending with other wheats, particularly in the English mills. The British people generally are not familiar with the high quality of bread which can be baked from Canadian flour."

In support of the argument that a publicity campaign should be conducted in Great Britain, figures were quoted at the U.G.G. convention to the effect that while world consumption of wheat has dropped 31 per cent in the past five years, Canadian wheat exports have been lowered by 40 per cent in the same period.

While this may be true, it does not necessarily mean, however, that Canada is not holding her own in competition with other wheat exporting countries as total exports have dropped faster than total consumption due to the self-sustaining efforts of a number of the former customer countries in Europe. It does demonstrate, on the other hand, a material reduction of consumption of wheat, during the period under review.

Unfortunately, there is evidence that there is actually a reduction of consumption of wheat in Great Britain, Canada's best customer for high grade wheat. Representatives of the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society, while in Western Canada this summer, testified that while the Scotchman insists upon bread made of wheat of high protein content as a result of which bread sold by the Co-operative's affiliates and subsidiaries contains 93 per cent. Canadian wheat, he is also eating less bread than formerly and, incredible though it may sound, is consuming less porridge. The Scotchman is substituting more expensive fruit, bacon and eggs and other costliness, for a percentage of his erstwhile substantial diet of bread and oatmeal.

There are indications that a similar situation exists in England, where the popular taste is for a lower grade loaf than the Scotchman demands. For within the past year the British millers have found it advisable to initiate a five-year advertising program at considerable expense in an effort to persuade the population south of the Tweed and the Cheviots that they should eat more bread.

With many of the former markets virtually closed to Canadian wheat and the British market showing a tendency to shrink due to changing dietary tastes, or whatever the cause may be, the outlook is not reassuring to the Western Canadian farmer.

The farmer organizations are becoming alive to the need for taking some steps to deal with these conditions and it is to be hoped that some effective program can be devised with all interests working together to a common aim.

In some quarters it is suggested that this is an opportunity for the Canadian Wheat Board to take the initiative in co-operation with the Department of Trade and Commerce. It is pointed out that the Wheat Board, under the Canada Wheat Board Act, is vested with wide enough powers in section 8, sub-section B, which gives the board authority "to sell and dispose of from time to time, all wheat which the board may acquire for such price as it may consider reasonable with the object of promoting the sale and use of Canadian wheat in the world markets."

Some recent experiments in the home market show that the public will respond to a loaf made more attractive by flavoring or other devices and it is possible that similar efforts to woo the British consumer would pay dividends. At any rate it is worth a trial.

Terminates Annual Gifts

Rockefeller Believes Sectionalism in Church is Wrong

Forsaking the traditional practice of his father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has terminated his annual monetary gifts to the Northern Baptist Church in the belief that inter-denominationalism is the best service of Christian religion.

In a searching letter to the Northern Baptist convention, written March 7 last, but revealed only recently, the son of the founder of one of the world's greatest fortunes informed the church that henceforth any future gifts would be only to specific agencies of the church.

"I have long felt," he wrote, "that this denominational emphasis is a divisive force in the progress of organized Christian work and an obstacle to the development of the spirit and life of Christ among men."

To hold young people, Rockefeller said, who are largely unacquainted with denominational distinctions, the church must work with them, "in relegating the non-essentials to a place of secondary importance and stand with them for the fundamentals of Christian duty."

Rockefeller, the largest individual donor to the church, has the past made annual donations ranging from $250,000 to $1,000,000 to the general fund of the Northern Baptist convention.

Made Noise Like 'Plane

Swarming Wasps Routed Pack Trains In B.C. This Year

Wasps were numerous throughout British Columbia this year. Hundreds of nests homebombed the rocky ground of the Cariboo district and on Vancouver Island.

"You could stand still anywhere in the woods, listen quietly, and hear a humming like a flock of distant seaplanes," a logger in the Courtenay district of Vancouver Island reported.

He told of finding an area where a beehive had been stung and, in the space of a quarter of a mile, feasting on the young wasps it took.

Many nests were situated on the Forbidden Plateau and pack trains were often attacked by the stingers. Horses ran and plunges as the swarms sail in the attack. The swarms remain with the horses only a few minutes, however, and they are soon quietened.

Unique Picture Gallery

Has Been Hobby Of Hotelerker For 35 Years

Trail, a little mining town in British Columbia, boasts a unique picture gallery. It is owned by Pete Levesque, a hotelkeeper, who has made it his hobby for 35 years, and it covers every inch of wall space in his lobby.

The gallery includes a photograph of every prominent man or woman who has visited Trail since 1900, and many of the photographs are autographed. All carry a short biography of the subject in Mr. Levesque's spidery writing, each ending with the word "died," followed by a blank space to be filled in when the time comes. Some of the subjects have thought this meticulous attention to detail a little premature.

Making It Clear

More knocked the ashes from his cornucopia pipe and put it on the mantelpiece. "Mandy," he said, "I think I've got me on mah beat clo's on go down to the theatre tonight to see de chorus ladies dance."

Mandy turned a stony eye on him. "Mose," she gumbled, "Iissen here. If dat an what you think, den you'd better think agin. Nigahub, you ain't got no place to go to, no place, no place, to see nobody do nothin'; never, nobow, and not at all. Does yo' understand?"

The golfer had lost his ball, and not unaturally, was inclined to be annoyed with his caddy. "Why didn't you watch where it went?" he asked. "Well, sir," said the boy, "it don't usually go anywhere, and so it took me unprepared like."

English Language Changes

Words Drop Out And Come In Use Again

A sign of the way in which the English language changes is seen in the use of the word "tremble" when describing earthquakes. In the last few days it has frequently appeared in news dispatches, but we were unable to find it in the Shorter Oxford English dictionary or in the Century.

We could find "tremble," that is, one who trembles, and "tremor," that is, an agitation of the limbs, or of the earth, but so "tremulous" when describing earthquakes. The latter word of the word "tremor" as follows: "Modern research has shown a typical earthquake to consist of a series of small tremors succeeded by a shock or series of shocks."

The word was not in the body of the text of Webster's New International dictionary, either, but it was included in the footnotes, and this is what we read: "tremulous—tremor for tremor." And what is "tremor"? It is Spanish for earthquake, says Webster. From an old dictionary, the Standard, published in the nineties, we got a little more information. It contained "tremulous" as the word for "tremor" and "tremor" as the word for "tremulous" of the earth's surface in volcanic districts.

The word is Spanish, from "tremblar," which means "to tremble." It was derived from South America. Apparently it was in common use in America, in its erroneous sense of "tremulous," and it was then dropped out of current speech, and has now made its reappearance, just like a dandelion in a lawn—Hamilton Spectator.

Java Has No Poor

Native Diet Is Frugal And Everyone Has Enough

Speaking of the world tour of Lord Baden-Powell and his wife, recently concluded with their visit to Canada, Lady Baden-Powell mentioned their stay in Java, and added: "It might be said that the natives in all of Java. Of course the native diet is frugal—a handful of rice and a couple of bananas is sufficient each day. But we could learn a lot from the attitude of these Eastern people. Their kindness, their friendly spirit and their goodness shine from their eyes."

Poultry Congress in Leipzig

Exhibit Building in Berlin Was Destroyed By Fire

Owing to a serious conflagration in the city of Berlin, Germany, the large building in which the live bird exhibit of the Sixth World's Poultry Congress was to have been held in 1910 was destroyed by fire. As there was no other hall in Berlin large enough for the purpose, the Congress authorities decided to hold the congress in Leipzig. According to official information, this arrangement will give better accommodation than was possible in Berlin, while at the same time the delegates will have every opportunity of seeing the sights in and around Berlin itself on the occasion of a pre-arranged visit. Provision is also being made for the delegates to visit the Olympic Games, which will be held on the outskirts of Berlin. A Canadian tour is being arranged, and already there have been some definite bookings and a large number of applications for information.

Propane Gas Has Many Uses

Can Cool A Refrigerator Or Run A Motor

One of the products of oil and gas wells is a inflammable gas, propane. Under compression it is a liquid, but released to atmospheric pressure it becomes a gas. When it changes from a liquid to a gas it has properties similar to dry ice, solid carbon dioxide. It has frequently been suggested that propane could be used for dual purpose with completely opposite effects. It could first be evaporated from the liquid state through a coil of pipe to cool a refrigerator and the vapor could then be run to a gas stove, where it could be burned as fuel. A parallel application might be to use propane in transporting perishable foods is described in "Food Industries." The propane is first used for refrigerating the body of the truck and is then used as fuel for the motor instead of gasoline.

Told Astonishing Story

Fishermen On Caspian Sea Marooned For Five Days

Thousands of Caspian fishermen told an astonishing story of having been marooned on the bottom of the sea for five days, dispatches to Moscow stated. Their report was that at the busiest period of the fishing season the sea itself retired from under the fishermen.

It reached along 150 miles of the northern shore line of the Caspian Sea, leaving the ships high and dry several kilometres from solid earth.

Airplanes dropped food to the marooned men until the tide flowed back and allowed them to refloat their ships.

Increase In Dairy Herds

A survey of farms on the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project has shown an increase in dairy herds and a steady decline in prices for cream. There are altogether 3,500 cows of which about 2,400 are Holsteins in the district, but with 100,000 acres available these numbers are capable of considerable increase.

Unique Design For Windows

South Africa's New Post Office Replicas Of Stamps

South Africa's new post office which is now under construction is to have stained glass windows in the form of enlarged replicas of the Union's halfpenny, penny, twopenny and fourpenny postage stamps. Interspersed with the stamp designs are representations of a streamlined train, aeroplane, a motor ship, and a radio station emitting signals. A pair of symbolic poles help to balance the design which are supported by medallions, sketches of mail coaches and other old methods of postal transport.—L. A. Barnes.

It has been estimated that twice as many boys as girls figure as victims of road accidents, of violent crime, of sexual offenses, while eight times as many boys as girls are drowned.

The poisonous madrasol and the edible madrasol are of the same family.

The large, white, funnel-shaped "blossoms" of the calla lily are not the real flowers at all, but outer leaves. The real flowers are tiny, inconspicuous things, crowded together on the club-like spadix in the centre.

a time when prompt treatment will correct them.
It seems difficult for most people to grasp the idea that medical care may be required although they feel quite well.
Not so long ago people went to their dentist only when they had a toothache. Now we consider that the person who waits until his teeth ache before visiting his dentist is a rather stupid individual.
The mother, busy with her new baby, does not realize that she may need medical advice.
Even if she does not feel just right, she will likely persuade herself that there is nothing wrong and that everything will come all right in time.
Time is a great healer of sorrow but time does not, in itself, heal physical disabilities.
Childbirth is a normal process, but nevertheless, it does call forth an unusual effort with the result that some damage may result. The more complete the care given before and at confinement, the less will be the damage. The only way to be sure, in each particular case, that recovery has been complete, is to have the mother pass through the regular routine examinations.

A great deal is said, and quite rightly, about maternal mortality. All will agree that pregnancy should be made safe.
But pregnancy should be made made more than safe; it should also be made as comfortable as possible for the mother.
Furthermore, our goal should not only be "Healthy Babies," but equally so "Healthy Mothers."
The post-natal examination is an essential part of the service which aims to keep the mother healthy and to ensure that her health is not destroyed or minimized as a result of her pregnancy.
One time to secure a medical examination is after the birth of a baby, to make sure that the mother has returned to a normal condition.

The yield per acre of wheat for this past season in different areas and districts of the Prairie Provinces, is probably the most varied that has been recorded for many years.
On the whole the moisture that fell during the season was sufficient to produce an average crop in most districts and a bumper crop over a large area.

Our valiant wilderness have for some time elicited the concern of conservationists, but now science is bespeaking our sympathy in behalf of some of the glaciers which bid fair to disappear within a few decades.
If scorching summers succeeded by mild winters became the rule, Dr. Franko L. Matthews of the United States Geological Survey, tells that within another 30 years Glacier National Park, Montana may be minus its glaciers.
Mount Rainier National Park, Washington, also has suffered from heat prostration. At no time within the memory of living persons has the recession of the ice rivers in these areas been so rapid as during the long-continued heat wave of 1934. During normal winters snowfall and frosty air want to replace to a large degree the melting snows of summer.

Third annual competition for the most beautiful autumn-tinted leaf is announced by the Canadian Government through the Canadian Travel Bureau at Ottawa in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. The prize list for the 1935 competition provides for a total of $200. Each $100 goes to the person sending in the most beautiful leaf. The second prize of $50 and a third prize of $25 for the best with largest area, and for second largest leaf will be awarded.

"Steel of Empire" the recently published work by John Murray Gibson, while really the story of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has so much of other Canadian history that it will find a permanent place as one of the outstanding contributions to the records of the Dominion. Starting with the first known arrival on our shores, a Chinaman, Hut Shien, in British Columbia at the end of the fifth century, Mr. Gibson traces the romantic growth of the Canadian Pacific, many centuries later, with a wealth of incident and detail.
The author's long association with the railway having been of the utmost value.

Possessing one of the finest collections in the world of colored pictures of scenes in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, T. H. Lou-dale, of Banff, recently exhibited them to the Women's Canadian Club at an illustrated lecture at the Vancouver Hotel. The pictures included scenes of mountains, valleys, lakes and birds, animal and flower life.
